THINKING OUT LOUD

By H. M. L., SR.

As one commentator pointed out yesterday over the radio, the president in his historic address before congress had three audiences, first the home audience, then the audience in Western Europe, and finally the audience in Moscow, which we know is very small and select.

Molotov dismissed the speech lightly as propaganda for home consumption, but Molotov may have thought better of that remark by now. It was distinctly a warning to Russia to stop, look and listen. If they don't the train may run over them. By the train we mean the armed might of an indignant nation aroused to muster again its fighting strength to annihilate another world bully.

* * *

We do not know what Congress will do to implement the president's words in so far as resumption of Selective Service, or adoption of Universal Military Training is concerned, but the bill to put the Marshall plan for the recovery of Europe in effect is just about ready for his signature. Selective Service for a limited time is a quick way of filling the depleted ranks of our armed services, but universal military training is a long range plan that will need careful consideration and undoubtedly is a better preparedness plan. We favor the universal military training of American youth . We hink, on the Whole, that American youth will benefit from it, whether we have war or not.

* * *

We believe it is not intended, in event selective service is adopted as a temporary measure, to re-induct world War II veterans, though as a matter of fact, many of them are now volunteering, especially after the president's clear enunciation of the issue.

* * *

It may turn out, as a lot of people, including many members of Congress think, that once our military, naval, and aerial forces are restored to full strength, Russia will not want to test it. We devotedly hope that will be the case, but on the other hand, it is just possible that matters may have gotten beyond Stalin's and the politburo's control. It is just possible that the man who has never gotten farther from Russia than Teheran, is still vastly ignorant of what the United States can do, and very capably, too.

We still remember the pitiful picture of the Japanese leaders being escorted aboard the battleship, Missouri, to sign the terms of peace. They certainly looked woebegone and downcast. After Hiroshima and Nagasaki they had no recourse save sign on the dotted line. And all because they had made no study of the potentials involved in attacking Pearl Harbor, not only that, but in their careful censorship of all information their people had access to. It may be that the Communist idea of keeping the common people from knowing the pertinent facts is a good one, but in the long run, it can only be very bad.

* * *

If the Russian people could only know what they are likely to meet in a war with the United States, they would probably join the counter-revolution. But they don't. Due to the strict censorship of all news from the outside world, the Russians are probably as ignorant of the United States and its people as were the Japanese.

* * *

Due to Russian censorship of all incoming mail and the very few radio receivers in Russia, it is very difficult to reach their minds with anything the politburo regards as subversive to the government. We are afraid that if war comes the Russian people will be terribly surprised. And it may come sooner than we think because with Marshal Tito mustering an army on the borders of Greece, with Albania and Bulgaria also raising troops, it would look as if we might be plunged into a war any moment.

ROGERS DENIED FREEDOM IN SECOND TRY

NEVADA CITY: Raymond Rogers, who pleaded guilty to robbery in November and now serving his sentence in Folsom Prison, was returned to Folsom Monday following the hearing for his second application for a writ of coram nobis.

Rogers ,accused by Bonita Bailey of robbing her one night last summer as she lay asleep in an automobile in Olympia Park, asked for a writ of coram nobis several weeks ago. After a hearing during which he examined several officers on the witness stand in an attempt to prove he was intimadated into pleading guilty to the robbery charge, was denied his writ.

Last week he again applied for the same writ. Judge James Snell asked him if he had anything new to bring to the attention of the court, or whether he proposed to go over the same ground again with the officers who testified against him before. When it developed that Rogers had nothing new to explore the judge denied his writ. Deputy Sheriff A. D. Pepper returned him to Folsom.

Free Market For Gold

(By Congressman Clair Engle)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 22—Some developments have given impetus to the move for a free market for gold. In the last two sessions I have had bills pending for this purpose, but they have received little attention by the House Banking and Currency Committee, to which they were referred.

The French in their recent monetary moves created a free market for gold with a view to stabilizing the position of the franc.

In January Francis H. Brownell of the American Mining Refining Company, one of the nation's biggest mining enterprises, wrote a joint open letter to the chairmen of the House and Senate Banking and Currency Committees, urging that (1) we rescind the prohibition of ownership of gold by U. S. citizens; (2) permit a free market for all gold ,including our own production; and (3) leave the present gold policy otherwise unchanged, continuing the obligation of the Treasury to buy the gold up at $35 an ounce.

Mr. Brownell contended that this would take the strain off the Treasury in buying all gold, which then could go into the open market and in addition would relieve some of the inflationary pressure because physical gold stored in the Treasury is turned into bank credit money and therefore tends to create more paper money.

At the Denver, Colorado, mining convention a good many of the gold interests got together on the subject and decided to support free market legislation. Senator McCarren has been interested in the situation and intends to introduce a bill somewhat along the same line as that which I now have pending on the House side. Senator McCarren and I are working together with a view to securing the support of outstanding business and economic experts to assist us by testifying before the committees of the House and Senate.

The move in California is being headed by Neil O'Donnell, the general manager of the Idaho-Maryland Mines in Grass Valley, with the co-operation of the Western Mining Council and the Hydraulic Miners Association.

THE - Diary of a 49'er

FROM THE BOOK EDITED BY C. L. CANFIELD

We had a talk with them about our new method of mining on Rock Creek, and they have taken the pointer and are going to work a portion of Brush Creek the same way. We told them part of our plans and that we are ging to leave the country early in the summer and they were genuinely sorry to hear it. They like me, but are specially fond of Anderson. He has been a sort of umpire in all of the disputes that have arisen and a peacemaker in the neighborhood of quarrels. They made up their minds to run him for the legislature next election, but our going away spoils their plans. After they left Pard said that before he went away he intended to get them all togther, give them a blowout and then tell them his real name and why he had sailed under false colors. He felt that he had to do it, both in justice to them and himself.

The country above and all the trails have been infested with a gang of highwaymen for the past three months and it has not been safe to travel, as they robbed and murdered right and left. It is Reelfoot Williams' gang and he and his followers do not seem to be afraid of anything or anybody. Wednesday morning they held up the Nevada stage near Illinoistown and they got away with seventy-five hundred dollars. There were only two passengers aboard, a man and a woman. He gave up two hundred and thirty dollars, all that he had. She swore she did not have any money, but they were mean enough to search her and, although she fought like a tiger cat, it did not do her any good. Sure enough, they found six slugs (fifty dollars each) in her stockings, which they confiscated, and rode away laughing. The man said that she came pretty near getting even in the tongue lashing she gave them, and that, until her tirade, he did not know that the English language had such possibilities.

SKI SEASON GETS UNDER WAY AT LAST

NEVADA CITY: The ski season, badly delayed through lack of sufficient snow, is just now getting under way.

For the first time this season all areas in the northern part of the State report good skiing conditions with practically no exceptions. The unusual winter which California is experiencing has kept up its freakish record by depositing snow in skiable quantities as far down as the 5000 foot level.

Best of all, the snow is now deep enough to cover all the brush and rocks, the bane of every ekier, and the texture is of a qualaty which makes for the best and easiest skiing.

The Spring skiing season, finest of all due to the warmer weather, started officially on March 15. Present indications are that it should last for many more weeks. This is the time of the year when photographers flock to the snow areas; when brilliant sunshine must be tempered carefully to achieve a wonderful tan instead of a broiled lobster complexion.

Over the coming weekend, the mountains in their mantle of dazzling new snow should be extremely beautiful and an invitation to spectators and casual weekend drivers as well as to the snow sports fans.

With the cancellation of several major skiing competitions because of poor snow conditions, the present fall now will permit the various ski clubs of northern California and Nevada to carry out their programs.

Snow depth and road information as reported by the Winter Sports Committee of the California State Chamber of Commerce, as of Thursday, March 18, compiled from wire and telephone reports from private resorts, the National Forests, National Parks, and the U. S. Weather Bureau. Depths reported are depths on the ski hills and not on level ground. SKID CHAINS ARE NECESSARY AT MOST AREAS THIS WEEK AND SHOULD BE CARRIED AT ALL TIMES. Condition of snow is not reported because of constant change but ski wax will take care of any kind of snow encountered.

MYSTERIOUS DEATH OF PETER ZIAS

NEVADA CITY: The body of Peter Zias, 22, was found Sunday at 11 A.M. on top of a sawdust pile burning at the Nale Lumber Mill in Gold Flat. The body was found by Gordon T. Nale, who owns the plant and who hired Zias as a wtchman. Zias went on duty at 4 A.M.

The sawdust fire was burning within six feet of his body. Apparently he had gone to sleep on the warm sawdust. His death is being investigated by Alvah Hooper, county coroner. An inquest was held yesterday morning in Holmes Funeral Home here, but the doctors found nothing conclusively revealing the cause of death. They have sent inernal organs to a Sacramento laboratory for analysis.

It is thought possible the man might have been asphyciated by fumes of the burning pine sawdust. Zias was a native of Pennsylvania and was single. He leaves a father and several brothers and sisters in the Keystone State. He had been a resident here for three years. Funeral arrangements are pending.

Big Tree Planting Slated For Bloody Run Area

Supervisor Guerdon Ellis of the Tahoe National Forest announces that 119,000 Ponderosa Pine trees will be planted in the area burned over by the Bloody Run Fire of 1947. Operations will begin as soon as the last week's snowfall melts sufficiently to permit travel to the area.

Fire Control Assistant Vane E. Pitney, of the Bloomfield District, is in charge of the project. He states that twenty planters have been recruited locally. They will commute daily from Nevada City. A four wheel drive Army type truck has been provided to negotiate difficult roads into the area.

The Grass Valley Boy Scouts, under the supervision of Scoutmaster Sam Partridge, will assist with the planting during their Easter vacation. They will donate their services as a civic gesture toward the cause of conservation.

The pine trees to be planted are two-year old stock grown at the Forest Service Nursery near Placerville. The trees were delivered at the Bloody Run Burn on March 12 and were "heeled in" in trenches. Forest Officers state that the trees will remain in good condition in the heel-in beds for several weeks.

Approximately 175 acres will be reforested. The remainder of the 1123 acre burn consists of privately owned land and precipitave slopes not suitable for commercial timber growth.

C. W. Carson, Regional Planting Inspector for the U. S. Forest Service, visited Tahoe headquarters on March 18 to assist in laying plans for the project.

DURBROW HEADS CHAMBER COMMITTEE TO CHOOSE SECTY.

GRASS VALLEY: The Grass Valley Chamber of Commerce directors, meeting Wednesday night, decided to resume the employment of a full time executive secretary. Since Ray Kronemeyer resigned last December the chamber has been without an executive.

Gilbert Cramer reported that a movement is underway to change the direction of the runway at Gilmore Field so that approaching planes may land without flying low over the adjoining residence district. He estimated that removal of trees and brush from the proposed area would cost approximately $500.

Lee Leiter, Judge Nilon and Mr. Richard Goyne who created great merriment by his Cousin Jack interpretation of a well known biblical story.

50 YEARS AGO

The old flag pole in You Bet was pulled down to be replaced by a new one. On the day of its raising mny years before the whole male population of the place took part in the event and so much good feeling was distributed in the form of ardent liquids that the workers vision became extremely impaired. As a consequence the pole had a leaning to one side. The veterans of the former campaign were awaiting with considerable interest the erection of the new pole.

Word was received of the death of Henry Phillips in San Francisco. Mr. Phillips operated a stage line between Nevada City and Moores Flat in the early fifties. Later he served as deputy Sheriff and in the sixties went into partnership with Henry Mackay in the operation of a bank on Commercial Street. Upon leaving Nevada City he went to San Jose and was for many years a stockholder and secretary of the Commercial Savings Bank, where due to heavy speculation he lost all he had. At the time of his death he was employed in a minor position in a San Jose bank.

75 YEARS AGO

The evening closed with a debate "That All the Human Race Are Descended from Adam and Eve." Messrs. Johnson and Brown took the affirmative and Messrs. Potter and Power argued the negative. In conclusion the Judge decided in favor of the affirmative. The question to be discussed at the next meeting is "No More Territory Should be Annexed to the United States."

EMPIRE STILL ON 6 DAY WEEK CUTS POWER

GRASS VALLEY: Hopkins Fitzpatrick, general manager of the Empire Star Mines, returning from the Public Utility Commission's hearings in San Francisco, reports that the company will continue its six day operations but will cut its use of power by 20 percent by the use of auxiliary power units, portable generators which are available in this area.

Fitzpatrick urged that the mining industry of the state be accorded the same treatment as other industries. He stated that the operation of pumps in the mnies contributed to the supply of water in Wolf Creek which is used largely in irrigation for lower elevations.

He stated that if the pumps were not allowed to continue the mines would be flodded and, in a short time, completely ruin the property. He said that P. G. and E. officials, the Public Utility Commission and men conversant with the situation, regard the the power shortage as far more serious than is generally believed.

IDAHO CUTS POWER USE 20 PER CENT

GRASS VALLEY: The Idaho Maryland Mine, saw mills and planing mills, throughout the county, will comply with the Public Utility Commissions order to cut down the use of power by 20 percent.

The Idaho Maryland management announced it will cut one day from the week, making Saturday and Sunday non-work days. This will mean that approximately 350 men will be laid off beginning Saturday March 13th, for two days a week.

The gross payroll of approximately $100,000 a month will be cut for something like one third.

Edward J. Pardini, manager of the Hills Flat Lumber Company announced that 41 employes are to be placed on a 39 hour week beginning Monday, March 15th.

The order of the commission was issued March 4th, and becomes effective March 29th.

WISE SHOPPERS will note an upturn in the volume of local retail business, and very shortly. Historical Society Notes

The original sketch for the new Nevada County Historical Society column head, appearing for the first time in this issue of the Nugget, was made for the Society by George Mathis, artist-illustrator-and lithographer who has recently become a member of our community.

Mathis, with his wife and daughter, now resides in a home he has built on the old Red Dog road.

He is known for the magnificent technique of his pictures, and particularly for his lithographs of San Francisco recently exhibited by the Maxwell Galleries and reproduced in an attractive book by the Kingfisher Press.

Editor's Note: Ada Perry Landsburg was born in the little town of Sweetland, January 30, 1859. She was the daughter of John and Lydia Perry, and spent many years there as well as in Relief Hill, North Bloomfield and Nevada City.

She and her husband moved to Kuna, Idaho, to be near her daughter, Linda. Some years after her husband passed away, she had the misfortune to fall, and has been bed-ridden for more than ten years.

After the early days of 1858 but few homes were built. A nice home was built by John Isbister to which his family moved. In the same locality, a small home was built, also one by Tom Kelly, also James McNamara and were occupied by the Dan Holland and Pat Hughes families, and at the base of the hill, south of town, Tom Lealy had his home. West of town, John Egan and family made their home.

At Buckeye Hill one built and occupied by William Warner and family and one on the same hill nearer town was a large house and farm on which resided the family of John S. Brown. Adjacent to the Browns also was a small home owned and occupied by the Fowler family. These last named people had their gardens and orchards in which apples, peaches, pears and small vineyards were grown. As early as the writer can remember there was always plenty of fruit.

The homes on the East side of town had quite good sized yards in which apples, peaches, pears, plums, a few nuts, figs, grapes, gooseberries, raspberries were grown, also currants. In later years as water was scarce, there were few gardens.

Supplies

Nearly everything in the way of groceries could be obtained from the stores. They had been freighted from Marysville. Garden truck was scarce as irrigating water was scarce, but were well supplied by Chinese from their gardens in North San Juan. Twice or three times a week you could see two or three Chinamen, each with a pole on his shoulder, on either end of which hung a large Chinese basket filled with fresh vegetables from their gardens, which they sold at a very reasonable price.

A butcher wagon, sometimes called a meat wagon, from N. San Juan supplied the homes with the best of meat, fresh beef, pork, mutton and veal and sausage.

Every week one or more Jewish peddlers, called at the homes to sell their merchandise, which consisted of small articles, thread, needles, pins, lace, and trimmings of various kinds, handkerchiefs and sometimes small pieces of dress goods, or muslin. These were made into a neat pack, covered with heavy bed ticking, blue and white, and strapped with heavy leather straps so arranged that ong loops were left, so that a man could put his arms through them. The pack was at least two and one half feet square. With these packs on their backs these peddlers walked from N. San Juan stopping at each house to see if anything was needed. If not, passing on to the next house.

The three Jews were named A. Harris, S. Levi (partners), and Isaac Marks. Later there were only two as Harris stayed home to mind the store.

Later when times were better, they came leading a horse with a number of packs piled high on his back. Imagine if you can the work of packing and unpacking at the various homes where such merchandise was needed.

Later, when times were still better ,they came with horse and spring wagon, bringing quite a variety of goods. Then later there was only one, I. Marks, who came. Levi came no more. Could not stand his losses at gambling and suicided. I. Marks came for a number of years, but when transportation between the two towns became better, and people could go by conveyance to N. San Juan, he too quit coming.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Lantz Give Hobo Birthday Party

NEVADA CITY: Mr. and Mrs. Max Lantx and Mrs. Helen Cotman gave a birthday party Saturday night, March 13th, for Joseph Cotman, at Central House, nine miles east of Nevada City.

Theme of the party was a hobo camp. The guests came in costume ,some of which were comical. First prizes were awarded Mrs. Samuel Terry and E. E. Beckwith. Central house was decorated to represent a hobo jungle.

Dinner was served on a long table covered with a patched cloth. Candles were thrust in bottles and boquets in cat and dog food cans. Two hobos bore in a roast suckling pig. Following the dinner and cutting the birthday cake, games were played.

Forty five guests sat down to the banquet, from Auburn, Reno, Wheatland, Nevada City, Grass Valley and San Francisco.

Go to CHURCH EASTER SUNDAY

MARCH 28, 1948

EASTER is more to every grateful heart than the thrill of wearing beautiful new clothes. More than gladness that the long winter is over and Spring has come again. More than looking forward to the full blooming of a happy Summer. It is the renewal of hope in every heart that life can be good, a renewal of faith in the future, an acknowledgment of the joyous reassurance in those immortal words. "Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid."—The glorious words that have rolled down the centuries bringing solace and relief to the burdened, are needed today in a confused and anxious world. To Him who said them, let us pay the tribute of our presence in His House. He is Risen! Come to Church on Easter!

Just Wonderin'

I Wonder if remembering is sometimes over rated; The pro and con of this idea at least might be debated, For if forgetting is no sin and could be made to serve, Then we could say, "oh I forgot," without the least reserve.

I Wonder if there are times when it is better to forget than to remember. In thinking the matter over, I begin to feel certain that there are times when a bit of forgetting might perform a signal service, to ourselves and those about us.

This line of thought, with its ultimate conclusions, was suggested by a letter from a valued eastern correspondent. She wrote of the proposal to reconstruct the Surrender house at Appomattox and dedicate it to the memory of one historic day in the annuals of The American saga.

The old building in which two strong men once stood face to face "one in the trappings of glory, one in the gloom of defeat," was torn down and the materials removed or lost in the passing of years. It is now planned to erect a replica of the old building at a cost of fifty thousand dollrs and to restore, in so far as possible, the setting and furnishings of the original.

My correspondent wondered if it would be wiser to use that rather large amount of money for some other purpose and allow the memories of that day of surrender to become less poignant as the years drift by. Still, in this day of confusion, it might be well to revive the facts surrounding the American struggle for human rights and the sacrifices endured by both north and south in that great struggle which removed the the severed nation into one complete whole, strong and indivisible.

North and south at this time, vitally interested in the preservation of basic rights which are the equal inheritance of both, guaranteed by the constitution and the bill of rights. The time has come when we must all take a stand upon the firm foundation laid down by the men of old and build still more firmly upon the principles of humanity, justice and liberty for all. Perhaps the rebuilding of the Surrender House will prove to be a forceful reminder of those things for which America has long contended, and arouse in patriotic hearts the determination to stand boldly for that which is of good repute in our national record as a nation.

North and south cannot be divided; we are one people, dedicated to the preservation of our unity and our allegiance to the principles which uphold our integrity. This must be the message of the Surrender House, where the great struggle ended, where human slavery was abolished and the Union made secure.

"No more shall the war cry sever
And the winding rivers run red."

No more shall north and south contend for supremacy, no more shall human rights be trampled into the dust. This is one nation and the freedoms of one are the freedoms of all, nortth and south, east and west; the star flag floats over all.

The rebuilding of the Surrender House should impress these facts upon the minds of all who see it or hear of it and its historic values. Within its walls prejudice should forever die, justice should be exalted and the brotherhood of man made plain. "Within its walls memories of two gallant men should be enshrined forever, the bitterness of civil strife should fade away and the radiance of true liberty for all exalted.

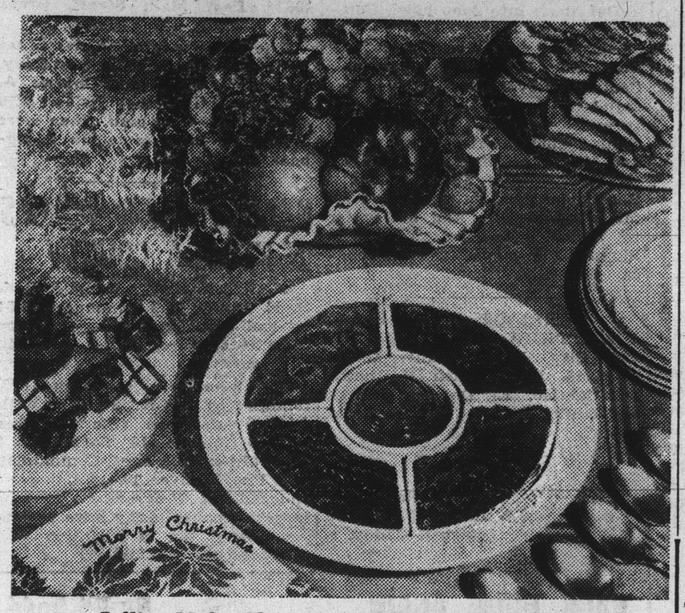
HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers



Jellies Make Charming Christmas Presents!

Fruit Favorites

Did you ever think of giving prize-winning jellies or home preserved things for presents? They are one of the most pleasant gifts to receive as well as to give, and with their variety of colors you can make a sparkling array of them very appropriate for holiday giving.

It's true that the jelly season is past, and few fresh berries are available, but then many homemakers have put up juice to be made into jelly. For those of you who don't have those resources, try a canned or bottled juice like grape, and make use of the citrus fruits.

If you want to do something particularly nice, make a few batches of chutney and put them up in small jars. They'll be a welcome addition to anyone's meat course, now that supplies of that food are low and we are trying to use the economical cuts for budget purposes.

Grape Jelly.
(From bottled juice)

3 cups sugar
2 cups bottled grape juice
½ 8-ounce bottle liquid pectin

Measure sugar and juice into a large saucepan and mix. If you use an unsweetened juice, add ½ cup of sugar. Bring to a boil over high heat and add liquid pectin at once, stirring constantly. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard for 30 seconds. Remove from heat and skim. Pour into hot sterile jelly glasses and cover with paraffin at once. Makes about five 6-ounce glasses.

Grape and Mint Jelly.

½ cup cold water
3 cups bottled grape juice
¼ cup lemon juice
1 3-ounce package of powdered fruit pectin
4 cups granulated sugar
½ to 1½ teaspoons peppermint extract

Combine water, grape and lemon juice in kettle. Stir in pectin. Heat to a full rolling boil, stirring constantly. Stir in sugar. Heat to full rolling boil and boil 5 minutes. Remove from heat; skim. Add extract. Then pour into freshly sterilized glasses and pour hot paraffin at once. This makes about seven 6-ounce glasses.

Thrifty Marmalade.
(Makes eight 6-ounce glasses)

3½ cups prepared fruit
5 cups sugar
½ bottle fruit pectin

To prepare fruit, use skins from 6 medium oranges and 2 medium lemons and cut in quarters. Lay quarters flat; shave off and discard about half of the white part. Put yellow rinds through food chopper twice. Add 2½ cups water, juice of 2 lemons, ⅛ teaspoon soda and 1 cup sugar. (This 1 cup of sugar is in addition to the 5 cups mentioned above.) Bring to a boil and simmer, covered, for 30 minutes, sitrring occasionally.

Measure sugar and prepared fruit into large kettle, pour in the hot syrup and add a cup of water if necessary. Mix well and bring to a full rolling boil, over hottest flame. Stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard 1 minute. Remove from fire and stir in bottled pectin Then stir and skim by turns for just 5 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Pour quickly. Cover with paraffin at once.

Apricot Pineapple Jam.

1 pound dried apricots
1 pint can crushed pineapple
1½ cups pineapple juice and water
3 cups sugar

Soak apricots overnight; drain and cut into small pieces. Measure out pineapple juice and enough water to make 1½ cups. Mix together apricots, pineapple and water; cook for 30 minutes over a low flame, stirring occasionally. Add sugar and cook until thickened, about 15 minutes. Ladle mixture into clean sterilized glasses and pour hot paraffin at once.

Ginger Pear Conserve.

4 pounds pears
2 lemons
4 pounds sugar
¼ pound candied ginger

Peel, core and chop pears fine. Grate the rind, and add the juice from the lemons. Boil with sugar until thickened, about 45 minutes. Add ginger which has been chopped fine and cook for 15 minutes longer. Pour into clean jars and seal.

Apple Chutney.
(Makes 6 pints)

4 pounds onions, peeled and chopped
3 pounds green apples, peeled and chopped
4½ cups brown sugar, firmly packed
1 pound seeded raisins
2 teaspoons ginger
2 teaspoons powdered cloves
3 teaspoons cinnamon
3 teaspoons salt
3 tablespoons molasses
Dash of cayenne pepper

Combine all ingredients in a large kettle and simmer uncovered for about 2 hours, stirring occasionally, until mixture becomes thick and dark. Pour immediately into hot, sterilized preserve jars and seal immediately.

Pineapple Chutney.

5 pounds cooking apples, peeled and chopped
6 cups crushed pineapple
4½ cups brown sugar, firmly packed
3 pints cider vinegar
2 teaspoons salt
3 teaspoons ginger
2 teaspoons cardamon seed
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon powdered cloves

Combine all ingredients in a large kettle and simmer, uncovered, for about 1½ hours, stirring occasionally until mixture becomes thick. Pour immediately into hot, sterilized preserve jars and seal immediately.

LYNN SAYS:
These Tips Will Help During the Holidays

To peel oranges or grapefruit and free the fruit entirely from the membranes or white pulp underneath the skin, first place the fruit in hot water for five minutes. You then will be able to peel every particle outside from the fruit pulp.

Very thin shredded cabbage is easy to make with a vegetable peeler. This type is best for cole slaw.

If vegetable or cereal burns, plunge the vessel in cold water and let stand a few minutes before removing contents. This will do away almost entirely with the burned taste.

Cabbage can be cut quickly on a coarse shredder. Cut head in half if it's a large one.

To save time and dishwashing when you use muffin tins, use paper baking cups in them. They don't need to be greased and muffin tins do not get all crumbed.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

How to Keep 'Em Down On the Farm

The other day Pete Swanson's nephew, Bud, allowed as how he was fed up with farm and country life ... and was going to the city where there was a lot more opportunity and excitement.

Some folks might have tried to stop him. But not Pete. He even advanced Bud carfare for the trip ... figured that when he'd had a good look around, he'd come back where he belonged.

And what happened? After seven days of big-town bustle and excitement, Bud was back behind the wheel of a tractor, with color in his cheeks again. And he'd traded the night life of the city for a quiet glass of beer with Dad.

From where I sit, that's how it goes. Try to prevent some one from getting what he thinks he wants—and he'll go on wanting it. But give him his head, and he'll settle for the sensible thing—whether it's country life, or a temperate glass of beer!

What it's like to be a telephone installer

1. Some of the busiest fellows in town ... Pacific Telephone's installer-repairmen. For we're adding a lot of new telephones every day in the West. It's steady work. And the pay? Latest records show top rate men average about $80 a week for 42 hours. The younger men graduate up to the $80 ... according to experience.

2. If you became an installer you'd start, most likely, in a training school. With pay, of course...$37 or $38 a week. Then regular increases for eight years after you got on the job. You'd be given other training, too...to help you learn your way up the ladder. Most all the top men in the company came up that way.

3. Fun like this is more fun when your job's secure And you can count on telephone work. There's a fine benefit plan, too, paid for entirely by the company. It covers sickness, accidents and death, and provides a helpful pension for retirement. There's nothing like the peace of mind a telephone job gives you...at work or at play.

4. Telephone jobs must be good jobs to attract the capable people needed to furnish good service. Good pay, steady work and an employee benefit plan give a strong sense of security. Comfortable surroundings, vacations and friendly fellow workers help make work pleasant.
